■ ■ an alliance of quality research services ■ www.alliancesites.com

Founded in 2001 by President and Principal Investigator, John G. Sonnenberg, Ph.D., Uptown Research Institute (URI) is a leading clinical research site specializing in the study and treatment of mental health disorders. URI has partnered with the world's largest pharmaceutical companies as well as small biotech start-ups to conduct inpatient and outpatient clinical trials evaluating new and emerging treatments. URI conducts research of the highest quality, bringing residents of Chicago's Uptown neighborhood and the greater Chicagoland community innovative treatments and compassionate care.

RECRUITMENT

URI has an excellent track record of meeting and exceeding enrollment goals. With a convenient, street-level location in a densely populated area, walk-ins are a key source of study subjects. URI has a large patient database and referral relationships with psychiatric hospitals, community clinics, nursing homes, and more. URI's full-time Recruitment Specialist has decades of experience in the field.
